RICHMOND'S IMPORTANCE AS A

SHOE MANUFACTURING CENTER.

SHOE MANUFACTURING CENTER.

The rapid advance of Richmond as a center of manufacturing industries is clearly marked by the growing importance of the various units that go to make up the whole. Every year ushers in either some new industry or proves to be the time for a decided enlargement of some manufactory already established, this being necessary to meet the ever increasing demands of the consumer.

All lines of manufacturing considered, it is safe to say that none have shown more plainly the marks of prosperity than the shoe industry. Richmond has enjoyed a magnificent volume of trade along this line, as is shown by the number of factories within her borders and the number of wholesale houses that annually support thousands of employes and expend millions of capital in order to supply shoes to the trade. Very recently it became necessary for one of Richmond's old established shoe jobbers to increase its manufacturing capacity, and as a consequence thereof there now stands just southeast of the Manchester end of Mayo's Bridge one of the largest and most up-to-date plant in the United States, owned and operated by the Wingo, Ellett and Crump Shoe Company, which manufactures the Kenmore, Hunt Club and other celebrated brands of shoes.

The firm of Wingo, Ellett and Crump was established in Richmond in 1870, being formed by Charles E. Wingo, John S. Ellett and J. D. Crump, who operated as a private concern until the year 1881, when it was incorporated with a capital of $150,000. From this corporation there went forth salesmen into the fields of commerce and so successful did their commerce and so successful their contests.

of $150,000. From this corporation there went forth salesmen into the fields of commerce and so successful did their harvest prove that their capacity was taxed to the uttermost, finally resulting in the enlargement of the business, as referred to above, and in July, 1904, the increasing of the capital stock to $300,000 and the absorption of the great Kenmore Shoe Company, of Fredericksburg, Va., which had been engaged in the manufacture of shoes for eleven years. The new building, with $1. engaged in the manufacture of shoes for eleven years. The new building, with 51-000 square feet of floor space is still too small for the rapidly growing business it is compelled to handle, and plans have has drawn for a four-story brick fac-tory, that will about troble the pre-ent facilities for manufacturing. The follow-ing officers look after the conduct of affairs for the Wingo, Ellett and Crump Shoe Company:

general manager. H. S. Hotchkiss, manager of sales.

Charles J. Green, vice-president and general manager.

H. S. Hotchkiss, manager of sales, George B. Wilson, treasurer.

W. F. Gordon, secretary,

The Wingo, Ellett and Crump Shoe Company has always enjoyed the confidence of the trade, this fact being due to their absolute maintenance, regarciess of conditions, of the highest standards of manufacture, both in material and labor. Mr. Charles J. Green, who is in active charge is particuarly thorough in h's craft, Prior to his association with the present company he was president of the Kenmore Shoe Company, of Fredericksburg, Va., which was absorbed by the present company, Mr. Green is a practical tanner, with 'years of experience in the great sloe market of Boston, Mass. Under his stewardship both the Richmond factory and the Kenmore factory, at Fredericksburg, are working to capacity, producing a line of shoes without superiors for the price anywhere. While the South and Southwest are the principal markets of this great shoe concern, they are rapidly pushing their business throughout the country, and the time will shortly come when Richmond made shoes from Wingo, Ellett and Crump's facthry will be found upon the counters of reliable dealers in every community.

The Wingo, Eslett and Crump Shoe Company have their own pritate siding on the tracks of the Southern Railway, insuring the best shipping facilities through that line, the Chesapeake and Ohio, Seaboard Air Line and Atlantie Coast Line roads.
